Extra steps

The purpose of prom: To dance with your date.

The Senior court was Amy Cowherd, Shauna Hacker, Debbie Maiden, Nancy Pruett, Shauna Smith, James Cole, Dustin Church, John Russell, Doug Warren, and Marius Cook.

Here and Now

Once again Manual breaks tradition and joins the Senior and Junior proms together.

Prom 1990 truly was a "Here and Now" moment. Prom was held at the Murat Temple on April 21, 1990. The most exciting part was the announcing of the prom Kings and Queens.

The Senior King candidates were James Cole, Dustin Church, John Russell, Doug

Warren, and Marius Cook for Queen they were Shauna Smith, Nancy Pruett, Debbie Maiden, Shauna Hacker, and Amy Cowherd. The Queen candidates for the Juniors were Jenny Wood, Lashanta Vaughn, Kim Rosa, Chrissy Mulliken, Putina Brown and Renee Berry. The King candidates were Mark Beard, Doug Church, Chris Pero, and Brian Ganstine.

A Variety of Fun

The 1990 Pow Wow was a success this year as it always is. There were a variety of activities to take part in. It all started on Friday, April 27 around 4:30 p. m. and lasted until 9:30 p. m. Groups and clubs sponsored the booths that were presented at the Pow Wow.

The crowning of the king and queen all took place at 7:00 p. m. This year's King was senior Harry Brown and the Queen was senior Shauna Smith. Other candidates were juniors Brian Ganstine and Renee Berry, sophomores Eric Dickerson and Lisa Duvall and freshmen Andre Carson and Nikki McClendon.

This year's Pow Wow had 23 sponsored booths. There were comments that it was the best Pow Wow ever.

Tonicia Smith touches everyone with her version of "Don't Cry."

Manualaires sing and dance their way into the hearts of the audience.

Rock Talent, Rock

On March 23, 1990, instead of the usual Redskin Revue of years past, Manual High School put on a successful Talent Show. Over 40 different groups and solo artists tried out, but only 18 acts made it.

When the curtain raised for the first time that night, the speed metal band "Point Blank," began the show with a hair-raising, ear-piercing display of their unique musical talents.

The act was followed by several signing, dancing, and instrument groups.

Kenneth Miles played "Fur Elise," a song written by Beethoven, on the piano. His performance was enjoyed by the audience.

Tonica Smith sang a melody called "Don't Cry," which probably touched every person there that night.

There were no winners or losers. It was all done in the name of good fun and entertainment.

Here are just a few of our senior football stars showing their spirit.

Pump It Up, Redskins

This year's Manual school Spirit Week all got started on Tuesday and lasted all week. This year's Spirit Week consisted of a crazy tie day, 60's/Redskins day, button and jersey day, and friendly red and white day. Students decorated the halls according to their class or grade. This year's hall decorating contest was won by the juniors, who displayed a very imaginative hall.

Students were seen dressed up with wild ties on the first day. A variety of jerseys from tennis and football were worn on jersey day. It was estimated that 80% of the students were red and white on the last day. This turned out to be the best Spirit Week for several years.

The players explode through the hoop with looks to kill, as the cheerleaders and fans cheered them on.

Up, Up, and Away

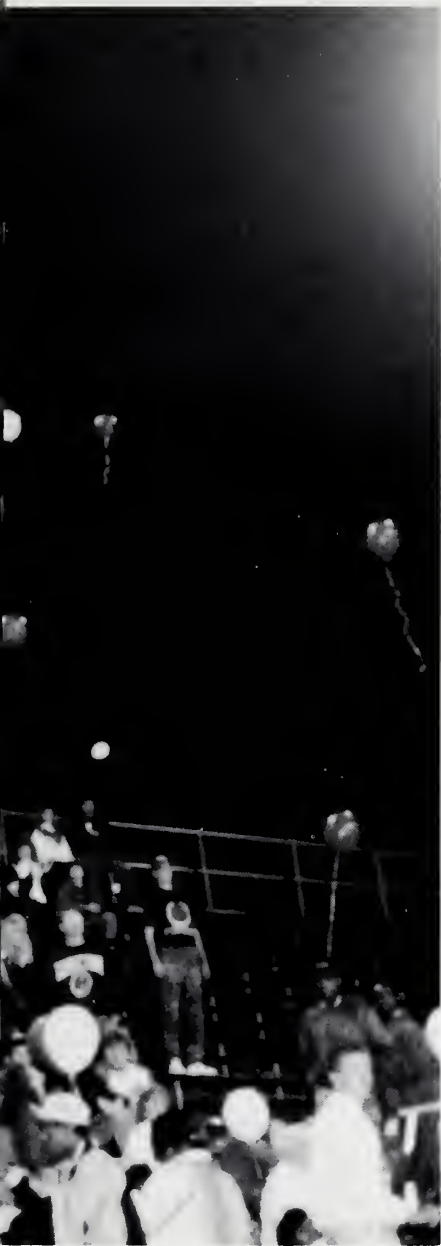

The excitement began as the sky filled with balloons at kick off. Manual trailed until the last minute and half of the game, then Manual came back and plucked the Falcons.

At halftime, the moment we waited for, last year's Queen Nancy Pruett handed down the crown to this year's Homecoming Queen Renee Berry and King Marcus Taylor. Among the Homecoming candidates were Cindy Reed, Chrissy Mulliken, Jenny Wood, and Putina Brown for Queen. Doug Church, Walter Brown, Brian Ganstine, and Mark Beard were the king candidates.

Following the homecoming game, Key Club sponsored a homecoming dance from 9:00 to 11:00 in the cafeteria. This year's D.J. did a great job, making it a terrific turn out.

Changing Roles

Spirit Week runs wild as a swarm of girls took the Manual football field on Thursday, September 20. You couldn't tell the guys from the girls.

The first game was played by the freshman and sophomores. Even though both teams scored, they were tied at the end of the game.

The juniors and senior teams, playing the final game, never scored and the game was declared a tie. As the girls were playing, the male cheerleaders rooted them on.

Manual's traditional Powder Puff game set the pace once again for the Mr. Hunk contest, won by Matt Harrell.

Sincerely, Steaming in Saudia

Operation Desert Shield is a joint effort in Saudia Arabia between the United States Armed Forces and Forces from other countries that are trying to protect oil resources. The United States Armed Forces may become aggressors to Saddam Hussein as a direct result of his occupation of Kuwait. After kidnapping American and other foreign officials and tourists, Hussein believes he is invincible. Now American troops are preparing to give Hussein a very BIG attitude adjustment.

The Fallen Wall

Germany, once a divided nation, has been reunified. The Berlin Wall once separated West Germany from East Germany, but now it's just rubble. At one time people were getting shot and killed just because they didn't like their government, but now all these worries are over. When the wall came tumbling down, people from both sides of Germany began to grab and hug each other. This was truly a moment that will never be forgotten in anyone's lifetime.

-Shawn Ward

Don't have a cow, man!

In our world today there are so many television shows to watch. On Thursday night, The Simpsons went up against The Cosby Show. Who will win for the most popular? Most people probably watched Cosby because The Simpsons was a rerun, but since a new series has started one must wonder who's leading. Who would you pick? Cosby or Bart? Hey dude, the decision is in the hands of the person with the remote control.

Take me to the ballpark

This year in Major League Baseball there were several records broken. It was the first time in Major League Baseball history that 9 no-hitters were pitched in one year! It's really amazing how one guy can throw a little baseball for around 130 pitches and never have a hitter get a hit. Amazing! On the other hand, you have a person named Cecil Fielder who hit 51 homers in just one season. He became the first person to perform such a feat since George Foster. Hey, some of these guys are good!

Banned in the U.S.A.

One of the hottest forms of music is rap. The biggest problem with it is that some people find the lyrics distasteful. Apparently, Florida has decided it doesn't need rap because 2 Live Crew was recently banned from this state. 2 Live Crew has been stated as being the dirtiest rap group who has ever performed live in front of an audience. This rap group seems to say everything nasty that they can possibly think of, but some teenagers happen to like this kind of music. In a recent poll taken from a magazine, nearly 65% of America's teenagers have listened to their music. Protestors have had rallies against 2 Live Crew's music to get it knocked out of their states, but some people don't want to get rid of it. What do you think: Should their music be banned, or should we be able to listen to what we want?

Blossoming Partners

In March of 1980, Emmerich Manual High School and Eli Lilly and Company were paired together by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of drawing schools and businesses together. Manual students and faculty all benefit from this partnership greatly.

Mrs. Stuart is the coordinator who helps arrange the activities associated with Eli Lilly coordinator Mr. Robert Bales..

One of the many programs is the Big Brothers and Big Sisters program. This is formed by a select group of boys and girls who are sophomores. They are paired with Eli Lilly volunteers. This program provides monthly activities to broaden the horizons of the students.

Shadowing is another program offered by Lilly. Eleven seniors shadowed various Lilly employees for a day. The students are exposed to areas they are interested in, including science, medicine, nursing, and marketing.

To a great extent, we attribute our high level of success to the commitment of the Eli Lilly personnel.

Dr. Hignite proudly displays the plaque have receiving it in Washington, D.C.

The Choice: Drug Free

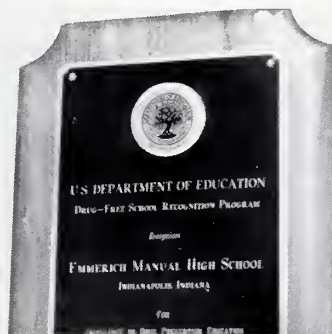

In June 1990, the Department of Education recognized Manual High School as one of 51 schools in the UNITED STATES as drug free. President George Bush presented a plaque and banner to Dr. Hignite, Mary Rabourn, and student, Lisa Duvall, at the White House.

Such programs as Natural Helpers, S.A.D.D., Just Say No, numerous support groups, and Indy Snowball Lock-ins aided Manual in achieving such a victory.

In May, the State Department recognized Manual as the only high school in the state to be honored. We were later notified we had won the National award. We were 1 of 11 High Schools in the country to win, we were the only school in our state who won; we were the only inner-city high school to win. Dr. Hignite states, "This award was achieved through efforts of Manual High School students wanting their school to work toward being drug free with the tremendous effort of the staff, parents, and industry willing to work with teens and to listen and understand their needs. This award represents a positive attitude of everyone to remember and be proud of."

Art

Brook Stewart puts the finishing touches on a still life of a plant.

Art is one of the more popular elective classes here at Manual High School. It is a way to express your self and your feelings without using words. There are hundreds of different types of art such as ceramics, drawing, cartooning, and painting. Every year the students in the art department enter citywide contests, and many students at Manual win.

Jennifer Lakstins entered the Scholastics Art Contest, and won a gold key with her charcoal drawing. Her award-winning submission was then entered in the national contest in New York City.

Senior Derrick Humbert won a $500 savings bond in the Just Say No to Drugs IPS Art Contest with his watercolor of a young boy holding a sign saying, "Stop and Think."

Brian Ganstine, senior, was one of the IPS students who entered his portfolio in the Prelude Awards.

Music

Classical, opera, country, rock and roll, or heavy metal? Which do you prefer? Taste in music varies across the nation. Have you ever dreamed about becoming a famous rock star or singer? Well, here in Manual's music department is a good place to begin. We have music classes in almost every area--from trying to hit that high note in choir all the way to beating the drums the quickest and the loudest. So stop deaming and start making in a reality.

Home Economics

By the increase in the number of males that are enrolling in some home economics classes this year, it is obvious that they are taught not only how to cook and sew, but also how to do many things necessary for life. It prepares the students of today to be the working adults of tomorrow.

Social Studies

Mr. Belser gives a lecture to his Government class.

Kenneth Linville studies his history.

Mr. Carl Wright retired but is still working around the building. Miss Claudia Key is teaching World Civilization since Mr. Robert Snoddy was given more English Department assignments. At the current time there are no curriculum changes but new textbooks are scheduled for adoption during the spring semester. Major interest this year are the Mock Election, Model U.N. at IUPUI, Close-up, and Text book adoption.

--by Amanda Check

Foreign Language

If you think English is hard to undersand and follow, try learning a whole new language. Learning a foreign language will benefit you in the future in any field of work that you decide to go into. It will also help you in learning and understanding the cultures of other countries. If this interests you then sign up for one of Manual's Foreign language programs, Spanish, French, or German.

Special Education

Manual is one of the few schools that has a department devoted to special students. These students have the same classes that other students have. Such as, English, Math, Science, History, Art, and Gym. However, these classes are designed to help the students with their special needs.

English

Misty Lewis and Jenny Fidler crop a picture for the IVIAN.

Katanya Carson expounds...again.

The English department has seen numerous changes this year. For the first time in many years there are an AP English class, full credit Developmental Reading, and full credit Greek Mythology. Many projects, including field trips to the Murat, IRT, Clowes Hall, and the Civic Theatre, come to us compliments of Eli Lilly and Company. One of the most exciting changes has happened in the publications department. We bought six Macintosh computers, a printer, and a scanner with monies received from the state of Indiana. Now, the yearbook and the newspaper are both produced on the computers. Notice anything different?

Mathematics

Math, at Manual is more than numbers and formulas it is basic learning skills for life. There are a variety of classes in the Math department to develop these much needed skills. Some of the classes to take are Computer Math, Geometry, Algebra, Advanced Math, and Calculus.

The Math department takes part in many contests. This year a number of Manual's students competed in the IPS Math Day at Tech and won overall for the second year in a row.

Physical Education

Freshmen girls wait their turns with the ball.

Playing basketball during school is a favorite Redskin activity.

Students now have a variety of things to choose from when it comes to physical education. There are gym classes, health classes, and, everyone's favorite, drug education classes.

This year the drug education classes received special attention as Manual was named one of the top schools in the United States in its attempt to be drug free.

Conditioning and advanced weight lifting are also part of the physical education program. A large number of students participate in conditioning year round to prepare for a variety of sports. Getting in shape never looked so good.

Industrial Technology

Industrial Technology plays a big role in helping students prepare for future career possibilities. A wide variety of courses are offered to interest students. The students enrolled in these classes seem to enjoy working on group projects.

Even if you are not thinking about a career in the industrial area, you could still learn some valuable life skills.

Chris Mustard checks the air pressure.

Buddy Harper files away at a project in class.

Business

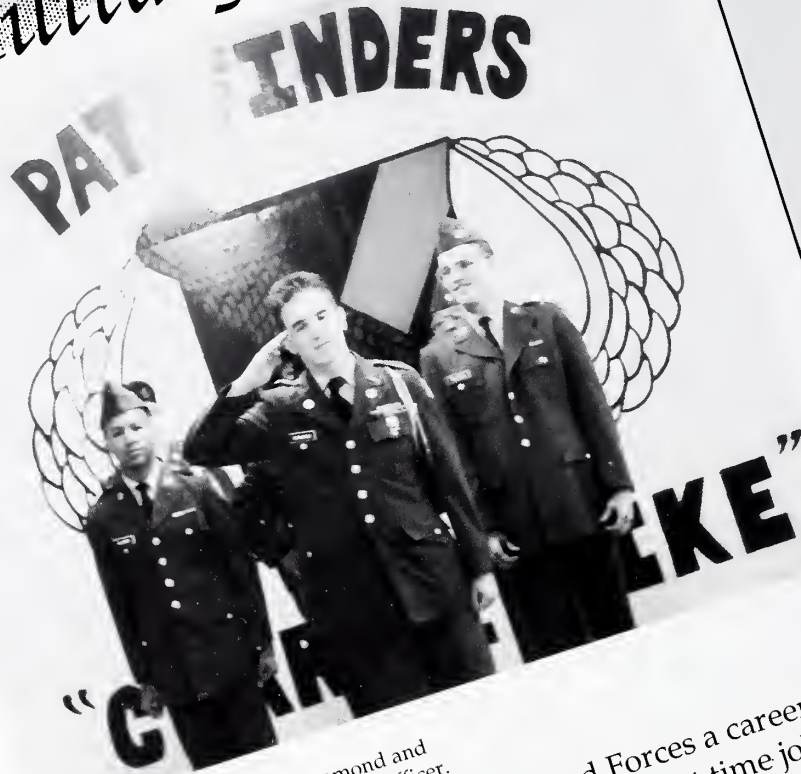

The business department at Manual High School is probably one of the most beneficial. Students can gather information they can use in the future.

The college bound student will find classes such as Accounting helpful. The student entering the work force will appreciate a class like Typing.

Candace Powell leads the masses in working in her office procedure book.

Gloria Edward types like a mad woman.

Military

ROTC cadettes, Danniell Drummond and associates, salute to a commanding officer.

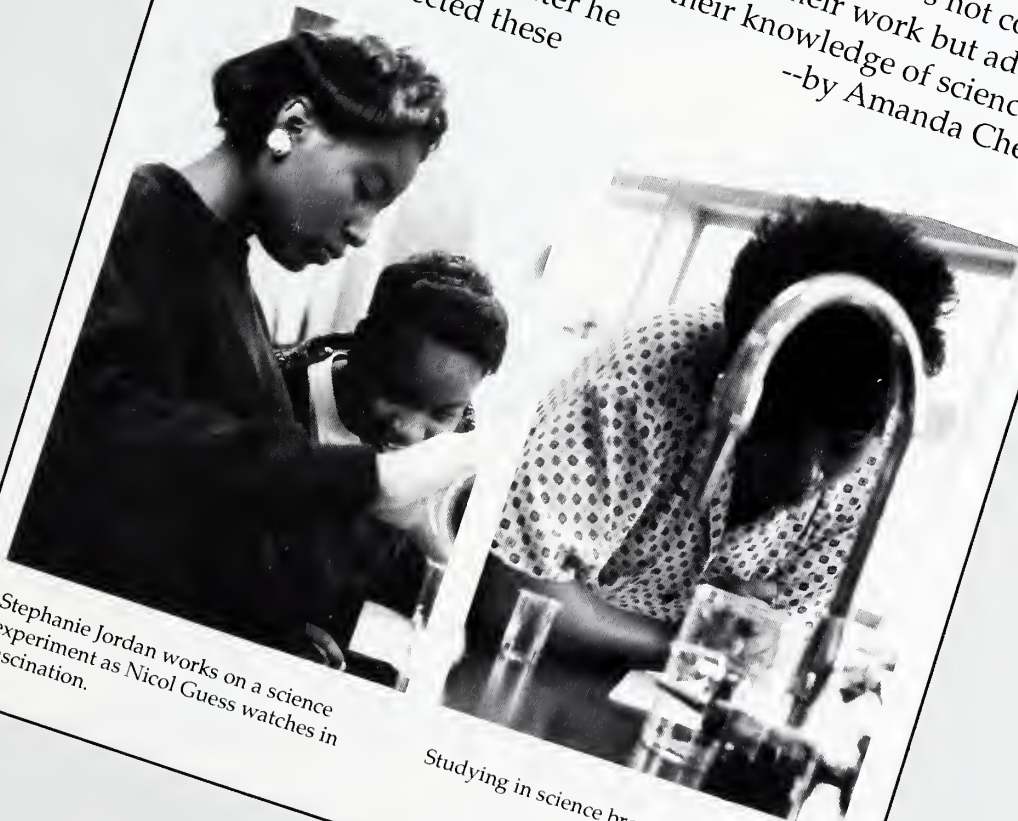

If a person is planning on going into the military, then they have four major types to chose from. Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines. Not only can a person go to the Armed Forces to stay, they can also earn money with a G.I. Bill to go to college after the service. On the other hand they can make the Armed Forces a career and not just a part time job. The Armed Forces offer a great deal of oppurtunities and benifits to a full time officer. It is not just a hobby, it's a job. If this sounds like something you would like to do, then ROTC can help.

--by Amanda Check

Science

When a person says the word "Scientist", what comes into your mind? A scientist does a wide variety of things from dissecting animals to studying the Earth's atmosphere. Being a scientist is probably the hardest job in the world. Not only do they have to be a brilliant person in science, they also have to be brilliant in math. After he or she has perfected these two skills, then they must be able to use these to figure out what is going on. When they understand what is going on, then they can relate that message back to us. Most normal people probably are not qualified to do their job. Let's not predict their work but admire their knowledge of science.

--by Amanda Check

Stephanie Jordan works on a science experiment as Nicol Guess watches in fascination.

Studying in science breeds success.

Support Staff

"That will be $1.80, please."

These are the people we can't live without. If we didn't have custodians, the school would be a mess from the hundreds of kids a day that throw paper around. If it wasn't for the kitchen help, we would not get served the fine cuisine we eat each day. We just need to say thanks to all of them for their fine effort.

New Teachers

In 1990, Manual received several new teachers. Coming from different schools are Bruce Shadiow, Connie Johnston, Lucille Koors, Kimberly Gray, Michelle Mathewson, Arnold Nelson, Marcelle Spinks, Susan Van Roy, and Sandra Williams. Welcome!

New teachers, Koors, Johnston, and Spinks just love to pose in their spare time.

Ms. Mathewson pauses from grading for a moment.

Foreign Exchange Students

Camille Crisinel and Mona Fahmy show us their European smiles.

The 1990-91 Emmerich Manual High School foreign exchange students are Camille Crisinel from Sweden and Mona Fahmy from Egypt. With all that is going on in the Middle East with Operation Desert Storm and Saddam Hussein, you can bet that these girls can offer unique insights into the situation and the European feelings.

The boys' golf team had a very good year. The team won the IPSAC and had a record of 12 and 5. In the city the team took 5th place with the score of 370 points. The seniors on the team this year were Eric Kehrt and Gary Powell. Next year's team should do very well. with lettermen returning.

The girls' team is still a novice group of athletes, but they have improved with each new season. This year should give them the expertise to really be a hit next fall.

The 1990 Boys' Track and Field team was 8-5 for the season, and Coach Pike was proud of his team as some members participated in the State meet.

This was a good year for the team, because James Cole went to the State Finals, placing tenth in the discus and fifth in the shot put. He put on one of the best performances in the state.

The freshman team also finished high in the City Championships. Willie Mucky was the pole vault champ and with Jason Wagner placing 2nd in the pole vault and 4th in the long jump. Willard Johnson finished 3rd in both the shot put and high jump.

Some of us will go to work; most will go onto college; others might get married. A lot of things happen during the senior year: it will be the last year for athletes to play at the high school level, and this will be our last prom.

Becoming a senior does not mean only becoming an upper-classman. It means we must face the "real world" in just a few brief months. Now we are beginning to look onward and upward to face all new challenges and adventures. What an exciting, memorable time!

Juniors

Being a junior means that we only have one year left. As we prepare for our senior year, we also look forward to being able to make our own decisions. We will become more independent and be able to take care of ourselves.

We can look back on our past and realize all the mistakes we have made. We might also get an early start on preparing for college. We feel a special kind of bonding between each of us. So as our junior year progresses, let's look forward to stepping onward and upward to a senior year full of new and interesting things.

Now we need to think about what we want to be after high school. When you think about it, you need to take pride in what you do and prepare yourself for the new world.

Sophomores

Stepping out from freshman year, a new horizon is seen as the sophomores try to cope with a step upward and see school gets tougher as they go forward.

It won't be long until graduation day when you can look back, laugh and remember your sophomore year and see as the year went by. The sophomores made a lot of changes and friends. Most even changed the way they look and dress for the new school year. But as your sophomore year comes to an end you have to say goodbye to a year of changes and hello to a new year full of surprises.

Akeeta Hammer was just one of two sophomore Emmerich Manual High School students who were killed in fires. Leisa White was killed within the first few weeks of school. Akeeta's death followed a month later. As tragic as those deaths were, fire safety and prevention were brought into our thoughts. For the first time, many of us checked to see whether or not our smoke detectors were working. They will be missed by their classmates.

The freshman cross country team did exceptionally well. Chad Phillips finishes yet another race.

Shawn Bryant and Rocky Ramsey work together on a test in physical science.

Freshmen

Rosemarie Flores reviews for an upcoming test.

Beautification of the courtyard was high on the agenda. Austin Hauger puts a little muscle into the new flower bed.

Once I walked into the building, the feeling of becoming a true freshman came into my soul. As a freshman I was told that I would be picked on and messed with. But, luck was on my side, and it's turned out great.

Being a freshman, you're probably taking your first steps in becoming involved. One of the best ways to be involved is to take part in a lot of after school activities. During the freshman year, these activities can determine future possibilities and opportunities. An upperclassman once said to me, "You should act like you know what is going on all the time and don't ask any questions."

A Day in a New Land

Freshmen have their own order of getting through the day:

1. Actually wake up
2. Take shower
3. Forget to brush teeth
4. Run to bus stop
5. Late for FA/1st period
6. Trip on stairs
7. Walk into wrong class
8. Miss bus home

Sounds pretty typical, doesn't it?

Becoming involved in school oriented activities is not only a great way to meet new friends. It can also become a way of being interested in school. Freshmen boys have two sports with squads especially for them: basketball and football. Girls have their own sport opportunities. Freshmen girls try out for cheerleading in the fall, and then they cheer at all freshmen basketball games and home varsity and junior varsity football games. Here, some of our newest show their finest.

On Halloween the Drama Club sponsored a costume day. Many teachers participated. Here Miss Copher dresses as Miss Liberty.

Job Swap

If our teachers could trade in their teaching jobs for a brand new career, what would they be?

All students of English teacher, Mrs. Marilyn Miles, can probably predict her second career choice—Public Speaking. We all know speaking is her forte...or is it gabbing?

Ms. Sue McNiell would rather spend all of her time traveling around the world working for an airline.

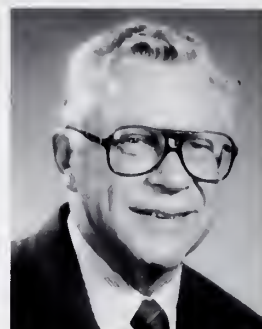

We all see Mr. Homer Travelstead as Mayor, right? Wrong.

'Tstead's passion is to be involved with sales for a big corporation.

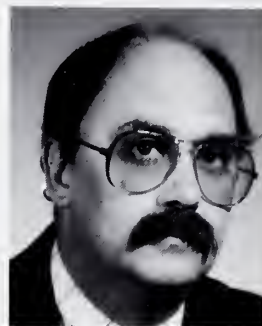

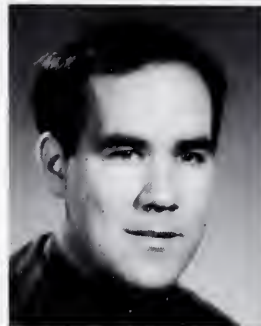

Maybe they should all stick to teaching. Or should they?

Manual teachers worked hard this fall to develop the first of many gardens. Here Mrs. Hammer plants bulbs which will bloom in the spring.

Free Time

Do you ever wonder what the teachers do in their leisure time (aside from grading papers, of course)? Some pretty unusual things have been revealed.

Mrs. Sue Moore enjoys mountain climbing and racing in marathons. This summer she and her husband spent a few weeks in Africa and climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro. Talk about going to the top!

Ms. Ann Manning loves to cruise around the world. This year she spent her winter break on a twelve day cruise through the Panama Canal.

Mrs. Kay Clay spends her time listening to classical music, makes raku pottery, and paints—in her own studio.

Where do they find the time?

To: The Graduating Class of 91

You have spent many years of effort and dedication to earn the key to open the first of many doors which you will face in your life. Wisdom gained from experience and further organized and directed education, such as college or other Post-secondary trade schools, will provide keys to open more doors.

You must be proud and hold your head high, for you have graduated from one of the best high schools in the nation. You will look back at your days in high school and remember the good times and the good people you have known.

Each of you will face a challenge that may cause you despair. At that time remember that hard work, dedication, determination and the help of a friend will carry

Finally, you must like and love yourself and what you do or other people will think you are false and unreliable. If you do not like yourself as you are you have the power and will to change those things you do not like. Go in peace and help your fellow persons. For someday you will need help.

The IVIAN was sold for the starting price of $18.99 and an ending price of $24.00. Three hundred 168 page books were printed for distribution. All photographs are black and white.

The IVIAN staff would like to give special thanks to Larry Glaze, the Herff Jones representative, for his computer expertise, Root Photographers for their assistance with some of the photographs and the senior portraits, Interstate Studio for the underclass photographs, parents of IVIAN staffers for understanding the call to work late and work often, EMHS staff, students, and administration, and especially to our adviser, Miss Liz Copher.
